Post your teardrop for sale on teardroptrailers.org

This is the time of year when the website starts to get a lot of questions about trailers for sale or "Where can I find a builder?" As a service to our members (and really we are not picky about that at all) TOW will be offering a space on our rotating gallery on the home page of the website for FREE! The only detail will be contact information and a price. If you want to have a full ad on the site in classified to go along with that it will only be $10.00 through the end of June. For $20.00 you can post until it sells.

KIT TEARDROP Camper Number 200, an update and a history

By Rick Slade

Thirty years is a long time, or is it a short time? For me, it seems like just yesterday. My 2 sons were ages 5 and 7 when I purchased Kit Camper serial number 200. Almost a lifetime for them though.

Perhaps long time TOW line readers will remember the story of its restoration back in 1984. It was to be towed by a 1939 Packard woodie station wagon. Since the car was made of maple and mahogany, so became the teardrop. A roof rack and side mounted tent were added. The family vacations began. So many, I don't remember them all. The "Dam Gathering" in California. Long Beach in Canada and Long Beach in Washington were visited. Long Beach in California was its original home so it has been to all 3 west coast Long Beaches. Numerous trips throughout Washington, Oregon, Idaho and British Columbia took place over many years.

Then came the first big adventure. In 1988 we were invited to participate in the first ever vintage car tour in the then USSR. Latvia was the host country. We shipped the car and teardrop to a friend in Sweden. Over the next 2 summers we travelled through 9 European countries including part of Russia.

Upon its return to Canada more vacations were taken. Then in 1995 the KIT Manufacturing Company asked us to participate in their 50th anniversary convention. I got to meet Dan Pocopalnia and his wife and hear much of the company history first hand. A vacation to Yellowstone Park in Wyoming with the return route through Montana following.

By 1999 my sons were no longer interested in teardrop camping. All the Packard Clubs joined together to celebrate the 100th anniversary of the company. It was to be held in Warren, Ohio so we decided a cross country trip would be to our liking. What a trip it was. All the way across northern USA to New York City. North along the east coast to Nova Scotia. A ferry trip to Newfoundland where we ceremoniously “dipped” our front wheels in the Atlantic Ocean. Returned west through Canada eventually covering 13,500 miles over a 3 month period.

At this point my wife announced she has had enough of the teardrop lifestyle. So I sold the outfit to a friend in the Seattle area. An era of our lives had passed and a 5th wheel RV trailer and diesel truck replaced it. The new owner then enjoyed it with his children.

Years later I got a phone call from the owner. He had sold the Packard and the purchaser did not want the teardrop. My older son jumped at the chance to buy it. As he said “most of my best childhood memories are with that camper”. Back to Canada it came. To Victoria where he now lives. He courted his wife with it and took many trips around Vancouver Island. They now have an 18 month old daughter and are looking forward to the next generation of teardrop vacations. He plans to build a new roof rack and attached tent for it as the originals are long gone.

By last summer the maple paneling was badly deteriorated. The wooden fenders and running boards that I built 29 years ago were rotting... (note: this is an early model which did not have fenders when new). I volunteered to “re-restore” it for him. Since he is using a new Ford Escape as his tow vehicle we decided to use stainless steel for the side panels. New metal fenders were purchased and this time the running boards are covered with stainless steel as well. A new hitch was fitted and new period correct tail lamps were installed.

They are looking forward to getting it out again for family vacations which, I'm sure, will include some visits with the "TOW" people in the Pacific Northwest.

Arizona Roundup Gathering in Why, AZ Was a Blast

By Hiram Stumpjumper our TOW Line contributor from Aumsville, OR

Our teardrop was parked on dirt (but it was clean dirt) under blue and sunny skies. This was our very first gathering in Arizona, and what a marvelous time we had. It was located at Coyote Howls RV Park (and they do) in the desert town of Why (pop: 116). The wide-open campground was all desert with scrub brush no higher than 4 feet with the ubiquitous Saguaro Cactus and mesquite trees reaching heights of 16 or 20 feet. We had great views of distant mountains that showed us beautiful sun and a full moon rise as well as beautiful sunsets.

This event was hosted by a Canadian couple who spend every winter at this park. It's really laid back where you visited with your neighbors who become another family of teardroppers and vintage travel trailer friends. At this event, there were 27 units. Seven were teardrops with about half being home built. We toured each trailer and oohed and a-awed the vintage units for their originality, uniqueness and beauty. This community of Why grew up with a trading post at the intersection of three highways. Locals just called the village "Y". As it grew, word has it that the locals wanted a post office. However the government stipulated that the name had to have at least three letters. So, the town name changed to Why. Nowadays, it is even complete with Why-fi service! It's so very small that our Garmin couldn't find it. Our activities centered around the local community hall. On Friday night we attended a Valentine dance which included a wonderful mix of locals, snowbirds in nearby RV parks, folks from our event and even some year-round locals. It reminds one of an old-fashion community dance with this one featuring five "gee-tars" and a vocalist. The highlight of the evening was the crowning of a new King and Queen who are required to rule at next year's dance. The teardroppers camped next to us had their number drawn so we'll see them next year. The outgoing couple was vendor snowbirds who show up every year to peddle their wares at Saturday's swap meet held at the center.

It was real hot during the day, but very cool at night. Coats were required to stay warm around group campfires. One teardropper reported that the temperature in her unit was 103 degrees during the heat of the day but air temps were only 88 (and it's a "dry heat"—very comfortable).

The highlight of Saturday AM was the Why swap meet where I bought myself a Why T-shirt (why-not?). In the midafternoon all the attendees of our trailer event enjoyed seven "gee-tars" who put on a two-hour "jam" session of folksy tunes. It was really fun with a communal snack table for munching. The funniest song was one about eat'n "greasy good gravy and gizzard greens". We were invited to sing along, but nobody knew the words.

Driving to Why from Tucson is about 125 miles. The desert has a sameness about it with miles and miles of very straight and level highway. Vegetation was scarce as was the traffic. The only hitch in our travel was a required border patrol stop; the road being only a few miles from the Mexican border.. We knew about this and commented that we would not lock the teardrop. After all, depending on how you stacked them, we could carry eight illegals! But, we were disappointed when we stopped. The agent told us, "Another Oregonian. I grew up in Medford". He just waved us through.

2013 – Fall Brigade, the big blow down

The 2013 Fall Brigade in Mulino was the site of a HUGE storm last year. While we only lost one canopy (you can't call it windy unless someone loses a canopy). It rained and blew and rained some more. Luckily Fall Brigade is held at the Elks Club campground and there is a fabulous lodge for fellowship and meals.

Friday night we had 8 can taco soup as well as an appetizer potluck. After dinner we played cards in the lodge and two of the fellows pranked Marty by taking off their shirts and pretending that we were playing Strip-Bo rather than Skip-Bo. The look on Marty's face was priceless.

Saturday night we had a Dutch raffle and more games. Stephanie and Mark presented Marty with a framed picture of his antics in the Tillamook Parade.

Sunday was a crockpot breakfast casserole. Cute trick finding three outlets that would not pop the breakers but we did it.

This year we will have the kitchen in the other building as well, so we will have lots of covered, heated space, please join us!

Pursuing, and Re-discovering, My Passion!

By Grant Whipp

This spring, Li'l Bear Tag-Alongs turns 30 years old! By now, most of you have heard the story (or are at least somewhat aware) of how I got involved in Teardrop campers ... of how I discovered a Modernistic in an old friend's yard, fell in love with it, tried to buy it from her, but ultimately realized that I could build my own ... and how building that first trailer led to establishing Li'l Bear as a business building teardrops for other people.

I wasn't the first person to try to re-introduce teardropping (I was the second) ... that honor belongs to the late Bill Adkins of Lynnwood, WA, who built six trailers in 1982 for a few street rodding friends before concluding it would be easier for him to just sell a set of plans for folks to craft their own (many, many fine teardrops have been built to the ADCO plans). I came along in 1984, Allen Moore of Jacksonville, OR, started Lonely Teardrops in 1985, Peter "Mac" Ward of Rieglesville, PA, started Mac-built Trailers in 1986, and Bill Harper of Redding, CA, started Tip-Top Teardrops, also in 1986. Of those first handful of early entrepreneurs (and many others who followed shortly thereafter), Li'l Bear is the only one still in business.

There is a simple reason for this (besides being stubborn, I mean) ... I have a passion for teardrop trailers and the entire lifestyle! While I can certainly appreciate (and occasionally participate in) other forms of vintage camping, I LOVE teardrops and the vast majority of other enthusiasts who have made the genre what it is today. It hasn't always been easy, nor has it been exactly profitable over the years, but the satisfaction I get from building a trailer (for myself or someone else), getting out and going camping (either by myself or with others at a Gathering), and meeting and getting to know so many other folks who also find these trailers appealing and fascinating, really helped to keep my life fulfilled and exciting.

Building and marketing teardrops led to creating and hosting the 1st Dam Gathering of the Tears in 1994, which led to the creation and publishing of the Tales & Trails, the Teardrop Times newsletter (and the small explosion of interest and awareness of teardrops that followed), which led to the establishment of the www.teardrops.net website in 1998 (not the first website devoted to teardrops at the time, but again, the second), which led to the first online Teardrop Camper Discussion Forum, and the rest as they say, is history!

Until I retired from school bus driving at the end of 2007, Li'l Bear had always been a part-time endeavor, even after I started selling parts to supplement the building teardrops, but beginning in 2008, it has been a full-time business. About that same time, however, I realized (or, at least, I thought) that selling and shipping parts to homebuilders and small manufacturers would be easier on my busted-up ol' body, so about five years ago I stopped building teardrops commercially, swearing that I would only build one more for personal use (some may remember that I managed to get that one started, but due to a multitude of reasons, it has been languishing for a couple of years).

T.O.W. Line

TEARDROPPERS OF OREGON AND WASHINGTON

Last summer, I allowed myself to be talked into building one more trailer for a customer ... I already had the frame and axle, so why not, right? The "plan" was to video the entire build and produce a "How To" DVD, but it soon became clear that would be far too involved and cut into the build time ... instead, we decided to document the entire build, start to finish, on our teardrops.net Facebook page (if you're interested, look us up on Facebook and check it out ... the build started back in October, so there is a LOT to go through, and we're not quite finished yet). Early on in the project, we realized that my passion for building had been re-discovered and re-ignited, and I am now eager to resume working on our own personal trailer as well as take occasional orders for custom-built teardrops!

Lots has been going on at both Li'l Bear and teardrops.net over the past couple of years, and you're going to be seeing some significant changes coming along the way (you may have already noticed that I have discontinued some products that are available elsewhere on the 'net for much less, and that we have a new fender vendor who is much more reliable and timely than the previous one). Suffice it to say that we will continue to provide quality parts (and now, again, custom-built teardrops) at reasonable prices with the best service, and always the continuing free advice, that we have since 1984 ... not necessarily because it is profitable, but more because I have an enduring passion for it ... just let us know how we can help YOU get camping this season, in style, ease, and comfort! You can contact us from the website at www.teardrops.net, e-mail lilbear@teardrops.net or call 530-242-6452. As always ...

Dan Pocapalia founder of Kit Trailers passed away last year, but his legacy tows on

Published in the Long Beach Press-Telegram on May 15, 2012

Dan Pocapalia passed away peacefully, surrounded by his family at home on Monday, May 7, 2012 after a very rapid decline following the diagnosis of colon and liver cancer. Merely two weeks before his death, Dan drove himself to work in Long Beach, just as he had done since 1945. True to form, when Dan received the information that he had "6 months to a year" to live and that he may become unsteady on his feet, he immediately went down to his work shed and fashioned his own walking cane out of PVC pipe and put a rubber tip on it. Although he did not have the opportunity to use it but for a few days, this reaction to serious adversity, sums up Dan's approach to problem solving with ingenuity flavored with his own unique style (AND the cane worked great!). Born "Dante Pocapaglia" to Italian immigrant parents on their small farm near the current Los Angeles airport, Dan and his 2 brothers Dominic and Vic, and younger sister Rose, lived a hard life on the farm. Dan claimed he was "following a mule that pulled a cultivator before he started grade school". Dan never could understand why he should waste his time in school and ended his school career with the 6th grade. This was just fine with his father, as now he could work full-time on the farm. Dan's older brother Dominic was the smartest boy in school, so that base was covered for the family. Dan was constantly trying to increase production and suggesting new management techniques for the Mexican laborers. The family had no idea just how close to the Mexican culture Dan was until his last week of his life. For several days he spoke exclusively to the caregivers in Spanish, such as when he was asked if he wanted something to eat he replied..."El Patron no quiere comer!" During World War II Dan worked for Vultee, starting off as a lowly "rust scraper". Dan self-taught himself the engineering and math required for the job and was quickly promoted up the ranks, ultimately managing the production of BT-13's and B-24's. In 1945 Dan and Bill Worman formed KIT Manufacturing and produced the classic KIT Tear Drop travel trailer. Dan was a true pioneer in the travel trailer and mobile home industry and remained CEO of Kit until the age of 87. Dan wrote a book "I Love a Challenge" that details a half-century of KIT, which he self-published in 1994. Dan was a lover of nature and although a multi-faceted outdoorsman, dry fly fishing and Big Horn Sheep hunting were his passions. He was particularly proud of creating the annual sale of the Dan Pocapalia Big Horn Sheep Bronze for FNAWS Wild Sheep Foundation that to date has raised more than $400,000 for the conservation of Big Horn Sheep in the United States. Dan called his extremely arduous Big Horn Sheep hunting trips "his annual physical" and well, if he didn't come home, he had failed the test! Dan entertained family and friends with his write-ups of his hunting adventures and mis-adventures and recently compiled an assortment of them in another book entitled "Outdoor Adventures of an Attaboy Dude". Dan was born a farmer and maintained, most possibly, the most diverse and productive acre of ground in Palos Verdes. From avocados and coffee bushes to pineapples, tending the orchard, green house and garden was Dan's daily therapy to alleviate the stress of running a public company. Many have benefited from Dan's labor in this endeavor! It is particularly true, that behind every great man is a great woman. Dan and MaryAnn were married for 63 wonderful years. When asked the secret of the success of their marriage, MaryAnn has been quoted that "Dan never said "no" to me and ALWAYS ate whatever I cooked - truly an act of love!" Dan and MaryAnn traveled the world extensively with the entire family and touched every continent except Asia and Antarctica. Dan spent weekends at home, working in the garden, building pens for the ever-expanding animal menagerie and teaching his children "Indian tricks", such as making a lizard catching noose out of a long blade of grass. Dan had many quotes regarding success that he lived by and passed on to his children and grandchildren, such as: "The most important ingredient for success is to START.", "The harder I work, the luckier I get.", "Your first loss is your least expensive loss.", and "Choose a career that you love and then it won't even be work." Dan once said, "I choose to live a simple life, which does not mean I am a simple person." He passed away in the same style that he lived his life - with efficiency, acceptance, humor, grace, and dignity. Dan will be missed but not forgotten. He is survived by his widow MaryAnn, his children Maria Pocapalia (husband Paul Brounstein), Daniel Pocapalia, Diana Pocapalia, Richard Pocapalia, and Ann Pocapalia; his four grandchildren, Adrienne Brounstein, Kimberly Brounstein, Richard Kern and Jordan Kern; and his younger sister Rose Butts.

Mid-Winter Get-togethers

Albany Pot Luck at Laurie and Glenn's

By Maureen McGuinness

This year, the Mid-Winter potluck in Albany, was held on a Sunday in order to accommodate those that have to work Saturdays. We again did not have a large turnout, but everyone had a great time and plenty to eat. One faithful Teardropper, who shall remain nameless, even made the trip twice, accidentally coming on Saturday, too! This event was graciously hosted by Glenn and Laurie Anderson in their unique barn. Some awesome vintage vehicles were the backdrop for our dining pleasure. Although Glenn is paring down his cast iron collection, there was still more than enough to admire in the remainder. The upcoming teardrop and tiny trailer events, both TOW sponsored and others, were reviewed and we all had a chance to share our camping plans for the summer. All had a great time catching up and making new plans and hoping for some good weather for the camping season that is just around the corner. See you soon!

Puget Sound Mid-Winter Gathering

By Trudy Glasett

"Change" is often difficult to handle, but all of those attending the Puget Sound Mid-Winter gathering seemed to enjoy the "change." Instead of our usual potluck, we met at Old Country Buffet in Federal Way, WA on February 8th. Almost 50 TOW members traveled (some came from over 100 miles away!) to re-connect with friends and make some new ones. We visited while waiting in line to pay, while filling our plates at the various buffet choices, and, of course, while enjoying our food.

After introductions, greetings were extended from those not able to attend, along with sad news of the passing of several camping friends. Ed Kelson led us through the TOWLine's calendar of events for 2014. Those who hosted these or had previously attended shared more information. It was difficult to say good-bye after not seeing our friends since last summer, but we are all looking forward to the upcoming camping season and spending time with our TOW friends at several of the meets.

Thanks to Jan & Pat Estes for arranging for this change of venue. Those attending agreed that we should do this again next year.

Fourth Annual Gorge Gathering Memorial Day Weekend at the Fair Grounds

Hello Fellow Campers. It's a new year and once again we will be hosting "The Gorge Gathering" on Memorial Weekend. Last year was a lot of fun, relaxing and great time visiting with all!

So far, everyone we have talked to said they are coming back. So here we go!! This year we have added a day, and early check in will be available Thursday afternoon. Like the past couple of years, it will be held at the Skamania County Fairgrounds just up river from the Bridge-of-the-Gods in Stevenson, Washington. This beautiful site provides a grassy campsite right in the heart of the Columbia River Gorge. Each unit has access to power (via extension cords) and centrally located water bibs. There are heated men & women's bathrooms with coin operated showers. The 6000 sq. ft. event hall is also heated and has a large kitchen and floor to ceiling glass "garage" doors that overlook the mountains. This gorgeous location offers much to explore including the close-by Columbia Gorge Interpretive Center, the Hood River Air and Auto Museum, the famous Skamania Lodge, and numerous Gorge waterfalls and trails. For more info on this locale, the folks at the fairgrounds will have us posted on their Skamania County web site.

June 27-29, 2014 Tillamook, OREGON

Tillamook County Rodeo Weekend Gathering

Tillamook, Oregon...home of Cheese, Trees and Ocean Breeze, welcomes YOU!
The Trask River Gathering will be held among the beauty that is God's country at a rustic Girls Scout camp along the Trask River.

We were able to reserve the camp the very same weekend as Tillamook County's June Dairy Parade and Rodeo which will add even more options to the activities for our area. If anyone is interested, TOW could have an entry in the parade...WOULDN'T THAT BE A BLAST?!

Please mail the completed registration form along with the fee of $50 by June 1st. A complete itinerary and driving directions will be available closer to the date. Any questions, please contact Riki Gottier at rikigottier@yahoo.com or 503-812-4275 (cell) or 503-842-5609 (home). Registration Form

IRG 5.0 Pamplin Grove. This event is so great that it only happens every other year. Set in the redwoods of Humboldt County, this up to six day event features everything from a rubber ducky race to a light parade. Some of the best pot luck food ever, and the chance to spend time with folks from all over the country. I have heard numbers of up to 120 trailers, and while that sounds like a lot of folks the location is spread out enough that you are not under everybody's feet. Sign up early, we wait two years for this one, and start talking about the next while still at the event! <http://www.pamplingrove.com/5.0regform.html>

July 3-6, 2014 Marblemount, WASHINGTON

Vintage Trailer Gathering You are invited to this fourth annual event held at Alpine RV Park, 60751 State Route 20, Marblemount, WA 98267 (Located between Mile post 107 and 108 outside of Marblemount) What to expect: This is a campground nestled among the foothills of the Cascades. It is about an hour drive over the north Cascade Pass to the wonderful tourist town of Winthrop. If anyone is interested in carpooling over the pass, information will be available. Newhalem, a wonderful company-owned town is just up the road, and the Buffalo Restaurant offers wonderful meals in Marblemount. There is the Skagit River boat launch in town at Marblemount (over the bridge) and many hiking trails.
<http://www.seattle.gov/light/tours/skagit/> (tours to the dam need reservations)
<http://www.seattle.gov/light/printdocs/Newhalem.pdf> (walking tour of Newhalem)

Along the way up or back, there is a honey stand and a wine tasting farm, and Cascadian Farms has wonderful ice cream worth stopping for. If there is no fire burn ban going on, there will be a fire going for roasting marshmallows and conversation. Sunday morning, there is a church in Marblemount if anyone would like to attend. Starting at 1:00 pm on Sunday, we will have a swap meet going on in the RV park. Bring anything you might like to sell or trade. There are showers (no cost), restrooms, and a laundry room (washer and dryers). You must call or e-mail for reservations as there is limited space, jra@cnw.com or (928) 505-2730. After May 15, 2012 call (360) 595-2611. Cost $15.00 a night for hook ups and $10.00 for no hook ups, dry camping. There may be discounts for longer stays.

Some of the events in the works are Dutch oven cooking, a BBQ, scavenger hunt, old car rally to Newhalem, game day/night, book trade, swap meet, pot luck dinner, movie night. Participate in all, some, or none - your choice.

Camp Hosts: Cherri and Mike Aiken (360) 595-2611, Park Number (360) 873-9002

Antique Powerland Teardrop Display and Campout This is the fourth annual Antique Powerland Steamup. Teardroppers have been invited to display their trailers for spectators to view. In exchange, we get two free passes to Powerland to camp on the campus of the Northwest Vintage Car and Motorcycle Museum. The Steamup is attended by thousands of spectators who wander the grounds enjoying demonstrations and displays of 15 separate vintage-type museums. It's a great show!!

Requirements are for all modern-era vehicles to park off the campus. Vintage tow rigs can be parked next to their trailers. Those wishing to just display their trailers on Saturday get free admission as long as they arrive before 9:00 AM and stay until 3:00 in the afternoon. Our display is limited to only vintage designed teardrop trailers NEW: Old tiny trailers are also invited this year!

Camping is considered "dry" with power for medical purposes only. Contact: Marty & Katie Boehme

August 8-10, 2014 North Bend, Washington

Kelson's Cascade Campout Camping activities include; horseshoes, volleyball, and ladder golf. Showers are available one mile north at Ken's Truck Stop. Nearby "points of interest" include; Twin Falls trail, Snoqualmie Falls, and North Bend Premium Outlet Mall.

North Bend will be celebrating their "Festival at Mount Si", and those interested can enter their classic car and or trailer in the parade Saturday morning at 10:00. Vendor booths will be located in town at Si View Park. Fireworks in town at dusk. Bring your potluck items, sunscreen, beverage of choice, and join the fun in the sun!

DIRECTIONS: Heading east on I-90 take exit 34. Turn right. Approximately one mile you will come to the south fork of the Snoqualmie River, slow down as you cross the bridge and immediately turn right onto 161st. A fish farm will be on your left as you turn. Continue down the gravel road and cross over a little bridge (Christmas Creek) veer to the left and you will find us on the left. White fence and light blue mobile home. (Basically, over the river and through the woods.)

Fall Brigade This year, the annual fall rally for teardrops and vintage TTTs will start September 27th. See the Event Page on the TOW website www.teardroptrailers.org for the registration form. A confirmation letter will be sent out that will give driving directions and outline activities. This gathering of our family of TOW friends wraps up the camping schedule for the year. It's held in a quaint vintage lodge heated by a fireplace. This site is located about 15 miles South of Oregon City (part of the greater Portland Metropolitan area). The Oregon City Elks Lodge owns this private, invite-only campground. It's a "dry" camp with power for medical reasons available. Remember to bring your outdoor extension cord if you need power.

Friday night there will be 8 can Taco Soup and an Appetizer Pot Luck, followed by good times in the lovely lodge. Remember you might get pranked with faux Strip-Bo courtesy of our Canadian friends.

Saturday will likely have some sort of tour or group event for those that like that kind of thing, there is antiquing in the city of Aurora. Dinner will be a Pot Luck followed by a Dutch Raffle.

There will be breakfast on Sunday, and since we have the kitchen this year as well as the lodge Matt may just be up for some real cooking.

What is a Dutch Raffle you ask? Aside from it being a great way to get rid of decent stuff you don't want anymore (remember if no one wins it YOU have to take it home) it is a fun way to "bid" for things with your raffle tickets. You get raffle tickets for:

- Showing up
- Paying early
- Making your bed if the raffle team notices
- Being nice to the Fall Brigade Team
- Telling a good joke
- Telling a bad joke
- I think you get the idea

Everyone brings at least one thing that someone might want (again someone has to take it or YOU take it home) in front of each item is a bag. The raffle tickets go in the bag, want something badly? More tickets. Don't want something don't put any tickets in that items' bag. On Saturday night we will go through the bags and pull out a ticket for each item. It is fast and fun.
